

Judged in Three Classes

Christmas Doll Contest
Winners Are Announced

The three first winners in the Seventeen magazine Christmas Doll Contest of which Flower's was the headquarters for this area, received sterling pins with the figure 17 representing the sponsoring Seventeen magazine, blue ribbons and long play records. These girls were Linda Reed, with Uncle Sam in the character class; Glenda Reed, with the bride doll in the fashion class and Sara Oswald in the baby doll class.

The second place winners, Ilene Darrah, with Red Riding Hood in the character class; Norma Jean Kaiser, in the baby class and Mary McGregory in the fashion class received charm bracelets.

Third place winners, Peggy Alexander, with the baseball player in the character class; Mary Evelyn Streit, in the baby class and Susan Knox, in the fashion class, received toiletries.

The dolls will be on display all this week in the millinery department on the second floor. The escalator goes right up into the millinery department, and all of the dolls would like to be seen before they start their trip to New York and eventually into the arms of some foreign child who maybe has never had a doll.

The original plastic face and white sock are on display, too, that people may marvel even more about the wonderful collection of dolls that have been made from bits of cloth, lace and ribbon and a great deal of youthful imagination.

Of course all of the girls had hopes of winning, and every doll is really a masterpiece. Spectators the day of the judging were glad they didn't have the choice to make and the judges agreed it was the hardest thing they had ever done.

The first thing all of the girls had in mind was that they were going to give happiness to some little youngster at Christmas time and some of them entered dolls in each class just for that reason. Then there was the group of little girls who had dolls that could have been winners but who knew they stood no chance from the start. Why? Because they were too young, and their only reason for buying the face and sock and making the doll was to give pleasure to some tot they have never seen and probably never will. These girls are Dolly Alexander, 12; Judy Copas, 12; Sharyn Sieling, 11, and Susan Turner, 11. Susan made two dolls.

The other girls who entered dolls in the contest were Kathryn Barnes, Louise Bockhorst, Linda Fisher, Carole Collier, Carolyne F. Leaton, Trudy Damm, Theresa Stohr, Carolanne Turner, Pat Hogan, Laura Nell Steele, Norma Jean Kaiser, Evelyn Streit, Linda Reed, Peggy Alexander, Susan Knox, Mary McGregory, Glenda Reed, Sara Oswald, Ilene Darrah, Mary Ann Hume, Iris Cannon, Pat McQuiddy, Mimi Silverman, Merry McQuiddy, Glenna Stewart, Geraldine Ernst, Patricia Farris, Judith Dean Adams, Barbara Zolin, Linda Dickerson, Martha Needy, Patricia Ann Farris, Karen Kruse, Lynne Keller, Patte Bockhorst, Jaydeane Young, Dorene L. Kaiser, Joyce Lee Evans, Nancy Fricke, Judy Franklin and Linda Miller. These girls all deserve a great deal of praise not only for their dolls on which they spent much time and work, but their fine spirit of entering such a contest.

State Postal Clerk
President Attacks
Veto of Pay Increase

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—The president of the Missouri Federation of Postal Clerks last night hit President Eisenhower's veto of the postal pay hike.

President Milton E. Stark of St. Joseph said "the kind of good postal service people have come to expect is doomed unless something is done to remedy this steadily deteriorating situation."

"While prices, other wages and the cost of living have soared, the postal clerks have received only one pay hike in six years," he said.

First Arms
Are Flown
To JordanGlobemasters, Flying
Boxcars Bring Rifles,
Jeeps, Ammunition

AMMAM, Jordan (AP)—The first U.S. arms were flown here today to begin a Middle East buildup against any threat from pro-Soviet Syria.

Jordanian officials and other dignitaries were on hand to greet the convoy of eight Globemasters and Flying Boxcars bringing recoilless rifles, jeeps, machine guns and ammunition.

Both Moscow and Syria charged that the United States was plotting an attack on Syria, next door to Jordan.

In Cairo, the morning newspaper El Shaab accused the United States of planning to blow up Western-owned oil pipelines in Syria to provide an excuse for an armed attack on that country.

"The new American scheme is to instigate certain Syrian reactionary elements to blow up oil pipelines running across Syrian territory," Al Shaab said. "This would afford a pretext to Iraq to launch an armed attack on Syria on a plea of protecting its vital oil interests."

"In the event of Iraq being reluctant to do so, America herself would interfere, in which case she will have to do so in collusion with Israel."

The paper added that Britain opposed the plan while Iraq, Turkey and Lebanon were reluctant to participate. Al Shaab said Jordan and Israel were willing to join the scheme.

The arms, flown from U.S. depots in Europe, are part of a 10-million-dollar military aid program to Jordan announced last spring.

President Eisenhower ordered a speedup of arms deliveries after leftist officers took over the Syrian armed forces in mid-August. The arms are intended to counterbalance weapons the Soviet Union has been pouring into Syria.

Other pro-Western countries surrounding Syria are also receiving U.S. arms. Surface shipments are being made to Turkey, Iraq and Lebanon.

President Eisenhower said Saturday he hoped any possible Communist infiltration of Syria would not push Syria to aggression.

Jordanian officials had no official comment on the statement. But in Damascus Syrian officials followed the line expressed in one newspaper that "this statement is new proof that the United States is looking for a pretext to launch aggression against Syria."

"It also proves," the daily Al-Aalaam said, "that America aims at engineering some incidents on Syria's border to justify an anti-Syria action under the Eisenhower Doctrine on the grounds that Syria threatens the security of her pro-West neighbors."

Premier Sabri Assali of Syria held an emergency cabinet session yesterday. A semi-official source said the Cabinet discussed "U.S. aggressive intentions against Syria."

Akram Hourani, leader of the Baath party and believed to be one of Syria's most powerful leaders, told a news conference that "any attack on Syria might lead to world war."

A Moscow radio broadcast beamed to North America said: "It is clear that the U.S.A. is hatching plans for armed attack on Syria and will launch it from a neighboring country."

Fire 18th Test Shot

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—A bright yellow flash, a sharp crack and a prolonged rumble signaled the 18th shot in the Atomic Energy Commission's current test series early yesterday.

It was the 62nd blast to scar the desert since the tests here began in 1951. Another is scheduled for tomorrow.

Officials said there would be little or no fallout off the test site.

The device was fired from a balloon 750 feet in the air.

Little Rock Has First Act
Of Violence in Race ClashWhites Grab
Six Negroes
At SchoolCrowd Gathers To See If Any Others
Would Try to Enter

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Shouting white students grabbed six Negro youths who tried to enter North Little Rock High School today and shoved them off the campus despite the efforts of the superintendent to escort them into the building.

It was the first actual physical clash between whites and Negroes and marked a new front of tension in the worsening race situation in the Little Rock area.

North Little Rock is an adjacent municipality of 50,000 just across the Arkansas River from here. The new school term started today, a week later than in Little Rock.

The six Negro boys advanced toward the front entrance of the school where they were met by a group of white boys with fists doubled. The whites hustled the Negroes away from the school. The Negro boys were not hurt.

F. B. Wright, the school superintendent, came to the scene and gestured for the Negroes to follow him inside. Again the Negro boys started toward the school but a reinforced line of whites, including the father of a white girl student who identified himself as L.E. Stroud, stopped the second attempt. Stroud shouted "They shall not pass."

At Little Rock's Central High School a crowd of about 500 gathered before school time to see if Negroes would attempt again to cross the line of National Guardsmen still stationed there with orders to refuse them admittance. No Negroes came. The crowd found two newsmen to badger with jeers and insults.

Dr. Benjamin Fine, education editor of the New York Times, and William Hines of the Washington Star were baited by the crowd. One woman excitedly pointed to Hines and said, "That's the man who made Gov. Faubus look like a fool last night." Hines was one of the reporters who interviewed Faubus on a national telecast last night.

Truman Approves
Judge's Ruling
On Integration

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman, here for a week's visit, says he approves of Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies' action in refusing to delay school integration in Little Rock, Ark.

"He followed the law and the Constitution," Truman says. "It's a matter of the Bill of Rights."

Truman expressed his view to newsmen yesterday as he and Mrs. Truman arrived by train from their home at Independence, Mo.

But the former President declined to comment on Gov. Orval E. Faubus' use of National Guardsmen to prevent Negroes from entering Little Rock's Central High School. Neither would he say what he thought President Eisenhower's next move should be.

Although he did express approval of Davies' ruling, Truman said of the Little Rock situation: "I don't want to talk about it now. I don't think this is the time. I have spoken out about this before. I am not a man who doesn't speak out."

Regarding Faubus' use of National Guard troops, Truman said, "I don't want to muddy up the water."

The Trumans came here to visit their daughter Margaret, her husband Clifton Daniel and 3-month-old grandson, Clifton Truman Daniel.

No Bearing On Dispute

Eisenhower Signs
Civil Rights Bill

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed into law the history-making civil rights bill empowering the federal government to enforce the right to vote with court injunctions.

The President put his signature to the bill—the first such legislation in 80 years—at his desk at his vacation headquarters here at 8:10 a.m.

Eisenhower's action came against the background of the school integration crisis in Little Rock, Ark. but the measure—primarily a right-to-vote bill—has no direct bearing on that dispute.

It would repeal a post-Civil War era law authorizing the President to use troops to enforce court orders in civil rights cases. But administration officials obviously feel Eisenhower has other powers.

The President instructed aides to keep him posted on any developments in the integration case. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told a news conference here the Justice Department plans to submit to U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald Davies in Little Rock the report he asked on the integration crisis there. Hagerty said the report would be handed to Davies later in the day.

The civil rights bill was passed by Congress a day before it adjourned Aug. 30, after the historic struggle lasting through the 1957 session.

Passage of the measure was the major action of the session. It also was a significant victory for the President even though his original proposals were rewritten by the Democratic-controlled Congress to remove or soften some of the far-ranging provisions.

Aside from the broad new powers to enforce voting rights, the bill would:

Establish a six-member presidential commission to make a two-year study in the civil rights field. Provide for a new assistant attorney general to head and strengthen the civil rights division in the Justice Department.

Repeal a Reconstruction era law authorizing a president to use troops to enforce court orders in civil rights cases.

Eliminate the requirement that federal court jurors be qualified under the laws of states in which they serve. This is designed to make certain that Negroes can serve on federal juries.

Judge Davies, filling a vacant Arkansas federal district bench temporarily, has twice ruled that integration must begin "forthwith" and once denied the school board's request that his integration order be postponed to allow tension to ease.

Faubus' use of National Guard troops to prevent Negro students entering Central High School were described last night by Mayor Mann as amounting to rebellion. Mann called Faubus' claim that threatened violence moved him to act with the guard a manufactured emergency with political overtones.

The governor said his actions were "to protect the Negro as well as the white children and to avoid a very clear and present danger of a race riot." He said he knew Arkansas Negroes would quickly forget the part he had played in their progress in the state and knew he would be condemned by their leaders "even though I acted in their interest."

Faubus said "maybe Negro leaders and white integrationists leaders and even Federal Judge Davies are willing to sacrifice the lives of a certain number of people in this community in order to take one more step toward final and complete integration. Let that be their philosophy, it is not mine. The price is too high and the danger too great."

Sees Loss Of Government
In US ActionFaubus Draws Sharp
Line on Rights, US
Authority in Case

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—If the federal government moves into Arkansas by force or in any other manner to limit the power of the governor "We will have lost our last right of local self-government," Gov. Orval Faubus said today.

The governor drew a sharp line between states rights and federal authority which he is challenging in the Little Rock integration case.

"If blood is then shed, my conscience will be clear, but I will weep for my people," the governor said in a speech prepared for use on television.

He said that given the opportunity "We can accomplish an orderly and nonviolent integration of our public schools in this state."

The governor also said U. S. Dist. Judge Ronald Davies of North Dakota has appeared "high handed and arbitrary" in dealing with the Little Rock integration problem.

He blasted Little Rock Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann, who has become the governor's chief antagonist, as a "discredited, repudiated city official" who will leave office soon.

Faubus said he wanted to review the actions of the North Dakota judge "who arrived here only a few days ago. He has had three hearings on this matter. One hour and 24 minutes was the total time consumed in all three hearings. On a matter so important—a matter in which the peace and good order of the community is involved, as well as the lives and property of its citizens."

Judge Davies, filling a vacant Arkansas federal district bench temporarily, has twice ruled that integration must begin "forthwith" and once denied the school board's request that his integration order be postponed to allow tension to ease.

Farming Doesn't Stand Still

Once the Indian was termed "the Vanishing American." Now it seems the appellation is being applied to the farmer. The word vanishing is a misnomer because census figures indicate the Indian population in America today is greater than it was when the Europeans started crowding them out.

The farmer is not likely to vanish either—entirely, that is—even though the farm population is dwindling. The Milwaukee Journal begins an article about the farmer being truly the vanishing American because his numbers are decreasing as a result of modern techniques and equipment making it possible for the present-day farmer to produce more than his predecessor.

The Journal quotes some figures published by a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. In 1920 it took 226 hours of farm work to supply the food, tobacco, fiber and other agricultural products needed by one person. The modern farmer can do the job in 89 hours. This amazing improvement has been brought about by power farming, modern fertilizers, better seed culture methods and related developments. The university authority added that farm production could be increased by as much as 50 per cent just by the full use of know-how we now have available.

The Journal's account also points out that great changes are taking place in agriculture, brought about by changes in our national eating and clothing habits, by the soaring birth rate, by increasing longevity and by other factors. There is a definite trend in the direction of specialization in agriculture — and that too is being spurred by mechanization.

Nothing stands still in this country. That's certainly true of farming.

Congress Junketeers Swarm Overseas

(Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is touring the Mediterranean, his column is written by his junior partner.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—With Congress out, emancipated senators and representatives are scattering in all directions looking for something to investigate in faraway places.

After a quick unofficial call, the State Department places the expected exodus about 190. Secretary of State Dulles has warned our embassies around the world to brace for a mass invasion.

He has also ordered them to treat the junketing lawmakers extra nice. In a more material way, Dulles has instructed the embassies to give congressional visitors all the local currency they want—no questions asked and none answered in case the press should get nosy.

This is the wish of Congress, which doesn't want the public to know how much counterpart money the junketeers spend. The expense accounts are turned into the House administration and Senate appropriations committees, which quietly voted not to make them public.

All a congressman needs in order to stuff his pockets full of free spending money is a requisition signed by any committee chairman. Few chairmen set a limit on the amount that can be drawn.

Some junketeers will work hard overseas gathering information to shape future legislation. Others will attend international meetings and spread good will. But most plan simply to take a vacation at the taxpayers' expense.

Avoid Publicity

Many congressmen will try to slip overseas without publicity. Those who voted for government economy don't want to get caught squandering the taxpayers' money themselves.

For the voters' benefit, this column will name the senators and representatives who have privately advised their committees of overseas travel plans. Admittedly, the list is incomplete, and some may change their plans after seeing their names in print.

Biggest load will be flown by the Navy to London to attend the Interparliamentary Union, a worthy purpose. But the group will break up into vacationing parties and tour Europe at the taxpayers' expense.

Scheduled to make the free trip are Sens. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.), Bill Fulbright (D., Ark.), Tom Hennings (D., Mo.), Mike Monroney (D., Okla.), Strom Thurmond (D., S.C.), Allen Frear (D., Del.), Alex Wiley (R., Wis.), and Gordon Allott (R., Colo.); also Representatives Harold Cooley (D., N.C.), Hale Boggs (D., La.), Bob Poage (D., Tex.), John McMillan (D., S.C.), Charles Hoveen (R., Iowa), Henry Halle (R., Iowa), Kenneth Keating (R., N.Y.), Gordon McDonough (R., Cal.), John Robinson (R., Ky.), Antoni Sadlak (R., Conn.), and Katharine St. George (R., N.Y.).

All plan to take their wives except Mrs. St. George, of course, and Keating, who will bring

Guest Editorial—

MINNEAPOLIS STAR: Help Wanted. Families wanting to hire women to do housework these days often yield to the temptation to make the work sound easy, the home surroundings luxurious and the pay generous. They know that unless they do this, their chances will be poor in competition with others looking for good housekeepers, cooks, cleaning women and baby sitters.

Right now about 2.5 million persons (men and women) are employed in household services in the United States—an increase of 31 per cent in five years, but not nearly enough to meet the rising demand.

The domestic help situation has changed greatly since 1940, for a good many reasons. Wartime jobs took women out of kitchens for factory jobs, and there they discovered that they liked the higher pay, the specific hours and the independence of living in their own establishments.

In the same period women who had been used to household help discovered that with more labor-saving machinery they could get along by themselves, and they liked the independence of not having other people in their homes. After the war, more kinds of jobs opened up, houses and their equipment became more efficient, and the new generation of young married women mostly expected to do the housework themselves.

Now the cycle is swinging back again. Bigger families, more big houses and more working wives have again increased the desire for helpers at home. But the scarcity of people available has even led to such lengths as arranging to bring employees directly from Europe.

It seems apparent that as long as prosperity continues, in most homes the surest aids to mother will continue to be mechanical appliances, prepared foods and philosophy of simpler housekeeping.

Longest Controversial Joke In History

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If one could watch the American-Russian disarmament talks from the moon—without loyalty to either side—they'd probably look like the longest conversational joke in history.

They've been going on periodically for more than 10 years. The latest in the series began March 18 and broke up last week. Now they'll be resumed in the United Nations. No doubt they'll continue for years.

Neither side wants to be blamed for refusing to talk disarmament. Each will try to get the maximum propaganda benefit from whatever it proposed and the other would not agree to.

Each side in the recent talks laid down conditions which the other would not meet, although these conversations were aimed at only limited disarmament as a starting point.

During all these years of talking both sides have been in a breakneck race to develop weapons capable not only of defending themselves but of annihilating each other, if necessary.

The talks probably will continue until both sides feel they have reached a peak in their military-scientific development and have built up an arsenal which needs no more additions.

Then, if they do agree, it may be only on making no more weapons. It's unlikely, in their present state of mutual suspicion, that they will agree to destroy or give up weapons they've already acquired at gigantic cost.

In short, disarmament looks a long way off.

Both sides, for example, have raced to develop the intercontinental ballistic missile, which can travel unmaneuvered 5,000 miles or more.

It could for instance travel from Moscow to New York, or vice versa, in about 30 minutes and, with its hydrogen warhead, wipe out a city. The Russians claim to have the lead.

They recently announced successful testing of such a weapon. That's more than the United States has been able to claim although it soon may be able to do so.

It is hard to think of this country or Russia giving up on the ICBM until it has fully developed this weapon, put it in full production, and then stored it in comfortable quantities.

The reason is plain enough: The country which had this weapon exclusively could terrorize the other. The same goes for smaller weapons which have shorter range or could be used in small wars.

In the end maximum armament by both sides — giving each the power to destroy the other—may be as good as disarmament in discouraging either from beginning a war in which both would lose.

That's a grim thought, and perhaps it makes for a lot more uneasy living than if both sides had disarmed a bit. Perhaps not.

The United States and Russia are at war now anyway—although not in a shooting war. In the end it could be just as deadly. Both are struggling to win the allegiance of the rest of the world.

So long as that continues, it is difficult to conceive of either yielding an ounce of its strength which might be needed if the hot war came.

Rendezvous With History

85th Congress Broke Myth On Civil Rights

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—No matter what Republicans or Democrats say about the accomplishment of the 85th Congress, it will be remembered long for its rendezvous with history. For the first time since Reconstruction days, it passed a civil rights bill. A mild bill, but it smashed the myth that no civil rights legislation could ever clear the Senate because of staunch opposition from the South.

The 85th also broke up the Eisenhower honeymoon. Dating from the White House budget message and the disagreement from within his own cabinet over its size, Mr. Eisenhower's prestige began to drop.

It sagged more when some GOP legislators (who stuck their political necks out for the administration's original position on defense spending, civil rights and school construction) openly charged they had "the rug pulled out" from under them on more than one occasion.

Some believe that in the years ahead the main achievement of this congress, along with civil rights, will be the first framework for international collaboration on the atom.

Another history-making achievement was the adoption of the Middle East (Eisenhower) Doctrine, which served notice to the world of United States readiness to intervene against Communist aggression in that troubled area.

The accent was on economy and Congress hacked away all session at Eisenhower's big budget, making cuts estimated in excess of $5.5 billion. But some of this may be temporary, and show up as such when next year's deficiency appropriations are requested.

Once the Democratic congress gave the President more than requested. It passed a housing bill providing for easier terms on federal-insured home mortgages and expansion of the slum clearance program. The Congress passed a bill to prevent disclosure of unverified and classified FBI information.

But the President in his last news conference before departing for a vacation in Newport, made clear he was unimpressed by the record of Democrat-controlled Congress.

Commented Senate Majority Whip Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) "perhaps the Congress is somewhat disappointed in him (Eisenhower) because he did not fight hard enough for the programs he recommended."

Wives Preoccupied With Children Fail Husbands

"We seem to have so little in common now that the children are grown."

If young wives only knew how often that admission crops up in letters to this column from middle-aged wives; it might make them see what a mistake it is for a woman to "live for her children."

A young wife doesn't use the old-fashioned term, "living for her children," when she falls into the habit of always putting them first.

But that is exactly what she is doing—living for her children and through her children, being first a mother and then a wife.

And the years pass by and one day—sooner than she can ever realize it will happen—the children are grown and gone from home. There is no one left but husband and wife.

And because about all that she has thought, talked, or planned for through the years has concerned the children, the couple find they have little left in common.

And who does the wife blame for that sad and depressing state of affairs? Herself?

No, she blames her husband. Somehow she had always expected that when she finally got around to having time for him he would be eager and ready to begin to build a new kind of life with her.

Instead she finds that he has grown accustomed to going his own way, finding companionship away from home.

The wife who is too preoccupied with her children almost always finds that her husband is too busy to bother with being a companion.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

October Date Set For First State Pensions

The first retirements under the new state employees retirement system set up by the recent General Assembly will take place in Oct.

Newton Atterbury, state comptroller and secretary of the state retirement board, said it was necessary to wait until sufficient funds are available before the pensions can be paid. The money will initially come only from four per cent contributions from state employees which will first be collected on the October payroll. The state also must contribute four per cent but the legislature failed to make the necessary appropriation.

Atterbury said he has only received one application for retirement since the new law went into effect. He said at first only those eligible employees desiring to retire would be permitted to do so. Later, he said the retirement board hopes to retire all state workers over 70.

Although the new retirement law has only been in effect a short time, Atterbury said the retirement board would ask for several changes when the state legislature convenes again. He said the intention of the new law was to permit state employees who quit their jobs before being eligible for retirement to get their contributions back with interest. However, he said the legislature only provided for the repayment of the accrued contributions.

Polio Complacency Dangerous State Health Division Warns

Complacency about polio is unwarranted although the disease is at a very low incidence in Missouri at this time, according to the state division of health.

According to the division, immunization of all persons within the susceptible age groups offers the only hope for wiping out infantile paralysis in Missouri. But, the division notes that less than 60 per cent of those eligible to receive federally-supplied vaccine had been immunized by August 1.

The division said an educational campaign would be launched soon to promote adequate immunization against polio. The need for the immunization program is immediate, the division said, since the federally-supplied vaccine will be available only during the next five or six months.

"Small Tent's My Size," Lt. Governor Long Admits

Lt. Gov. Edward V. Long isn't at all reluctant about commenting on his size.

The portly lieutenant governor, no small man around the middle, plans to take part in a cotton-picking contest against the governor of Arkansas at Blytheville, Ark., on Oct. 4.

Long told newsmen that the Blytheville chamber of commerce had called to inquire what size blue jeans the lieutenant governor would need for the contest.

Long said he told the Arkansawyers — "just get me a small tent." He later admitted that a size 56 or 58 would be about right.

Former Governor Announces Six-Man Evacuation Staff

Former Gov. Forrest Smith has announced that he has completed a six-man staff to work out evacuation plans for Missouri in case of enemy air attacks.

Smith was named state evacuation coordinator for Missouri by the federal civil defense agency. His task is to tie-in all plans for evacuating Missouri metropolitan areas in case of attack.

The staff as announced by Smith consists of Col. Russell Boyd, Cape

Girardeau, as chief planner; former Congressman Phil Welch, St. Joseph; Harry Busch, former Frisco division engineer at Springfield, as evacuation planner for Springfield.

Harris Rodgers, former state highway commissioner, was appointed as transportation and movement coordinator, Smith said. Other appointments include Fred Wickham, former highway patrol radio engineer, as communications chief and Ed Singleton, state division of welfare employee, as reception and care planner. Singleton is on loan from the state agency.

Non Resident College Fees Too Low, Lawmaker Says

Are Missouri's state supported colleges being packed with out of state students because of the low tuition?

One state representative, James A. Noland, Jr., (R-Camden County) thinks they are.

Noland, a school teacher, feels that state colleges at Springfield, Warrensburg, Cape Girardeau and Maryville, are getting overcrowded — especially with students who come in from other states.

The Camden county representative said he believed higher fees for non-resident students would help solve the overcrowding and would bring in higher earnings to the state-supported colleges.

Noland is so interested in the problem, he said he may ask Gov. James T. Blair to let the General Assembly do something about it at the special session to be called early next year.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.

The various pension plans which exist in the nation have done much to relieve older people of the fear of hunger and physical suffering when they are no longer able to work. Retirement pay has created a sense of self-confidence on the part of folks who have spent many years working in our land of basically high standards of comfort and health.

There is a security which is needed more than financial security. If we can find security in God we shall have a confidence both in peace on earth and in eternal life. Spiritual security supplies one with a never-ending supply of love and faith.

Through prayer we receive our payments in this higher security. God pays benefits in satisfaction and confidence which far surpass any material needs which beset us. Money alone cannot make one secure in his later years.

Producers Arrange Feeder Pig Sales

More Than 7,000 Are Consigned To Sales at Alton and Doniphan

South Missouri hog producers have scheduled 14 fall feeder pig sales during September and October.

Glenn Grimes, University of Missouri extension livestock marketing specialist, says the first sale of the season will be held by Oregon County producers at Alton on Sept. 9. Ripley County producers will hold a sale the following day, Sept. 10, at Doniphan. More than 7,000 feeder pigs have been consigned to the first two sales. Oregon and Ripley County producers will each hold another sale later on in October.

The complete fall schedule of feeder pig sales is: Sept. 9, Alton; Sept. 10, Doniphan; Oct. 7, Ellington; Oct. 8, Van Buren; Oct. 9, Birch Tree; Oct. 10, Houston; Oct. 11, Gainesville; Oct. 15, Warsaw; Oct. 14, Vienna; Oct. 15, Salem; Oct. 16, Doniphan; Oct. 17, Alton; Oct. 18, Potosi; and Oct. 19, Sullivan.

Grimes says the cooperative feeder pig sales were first held in 1950 and have provided south Missouri hog producers with an excellent method of marketing their pigs.

Pigs sold are well-bred, thrifty, good-doing kinds raised on farms in surrounding areas. They are sorted into uniform lots under the supervision of the Missouri Agricultural Extension Service.

Pigs sold at the cooperative feeder pig sales are all vaccinated with serum and virus 30 days or more prior to the sale date. They are brought to the sale pens on the day of the sale and are unloaded under a veterinarian's supervision. All boars, cripplés, and unthrifty animals are rejected.

If a hog producer plans to sell pigs in one of these sales, he must pay a consignment fee in advance of the sale. If he doesn't bring his pigs in for the sale, he forfeits his consignment fee. This way, sale operators know pretty well in advance how many pigs will be offered for sale.

GOOD FARMING

in Pettis County
By MERLE VAUGHAN
County Extension Agent

Dates Ahead

Thursday, Sept. 12—State poultry meeting at Columbia, 10 a.m.

Meat Type Hogs

A number of Pettis County folks attended the state meat-type hog meeting at Columbia last Friday.

Two of them were there at the request of the extension livestock specialist to show representative hogs of a breed. R. D. Kahrs of Smithton had black poland chinas and Stephens Bros. of near Longwood had Minnesota No. 2's.

Others that I saw there were Paul Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Riching, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Chapell, Mr. and Mrs. Farris Zimmerman, Hubert Finley, Marion Edmondson, Jim Labahn, Mr. and Mrs. John Tolson.

From Certified Litters

Several of the hogs on exhibit were from certified litters. In this breed certification program the pigs must be from litters of at least eight pigs. Then a gilt's litter must weigh 275 pounds and a sow's litter 320 pounds at 56 days of age.

Also two animals must be butchered from the litter and checked for musculature and body length. These animals must have at least 26 1/2 inches of body length and the loin eye muscle must be at least four square inches in size.

A pair of spotted polands were from certified litters. One of the animals butchered had six square inches of loin muscle and the other 6 1/2 inches. The body length was 29 inches. That body length is figured from the first rib to the "H" bone above the ham.

A pair of Durocs were from certified litters that measured out 4 1/2 and 5 1/4 inches of loin eye muscle while a strain of Hampshires reported six and 6.09 square inches of muscle. Their length was 29 inches.

A group of beltsville pigs measured 33 inches of body length while some Landrace were of similar length. Other breeds shown included Chester Whites and Yorkshires.

The show pretty much illustrated the point that there are good meat type hogs in all breeds.

Animals on Display

Three frozen carcasses were on display. They were of a very long hog, a medium length one and a short one. They were frozen so they would remain on their feet. A section was cut from the side of each to show back fat and size of loin muscle.

The college also had some of their own hogs on display. Litter mates had been butchered. These animals included Polands, Landrace, Hampshire and Duroc. They varied in average daily gain from 1.42 to two pounds even. The feed per 100 pounds of gain ranged from 291 pounds to 338 pounds, the average back fat ranged from 0.87 inches to 1.73 inches.

Carcass data on littermate barrows ranged from a length of 27.6 inches to 30.4 inches, back fat from 1.21 to 1.71 inches and loin muscle size from 2.5 square inches to 4.52 square inches.

Plans Available

Part of the afternoon program was taken up with a panel discussing different kinds of equipment to be used with a confinement type of hog production.

Sketches were shown of buildings. The first had farrowing crates on one side and pens to hold several sows and their pigs on the other side. Plans were to move the sows and pigs from the crates when the pigs were a week old.

They would stay in the pens for 3-4 weeks. When the pigs were eating well at the creep feeders the sows would be moved out.

The other building was 48 feet wide with pens reaching clear across it. Each pen would accommodate 40 to 50 pigs. The building has concrete floors with a little slope.

The upper 12 feet was for bedding and the lower 12 feet for feed and water with the rest, exercise and manure area. The center was made so gates could swing back to hold the pigs in one end of the pen so a manure spreader or feed wagon could be brought through.

A special piece of equipment demonstrated was a heat lamp with a short cord. If the lamp was pulled loose so it was too close to the bedding it also pulled from the light plug so it was harmless.

Dairy Cattle Need Good Water Supply

Dairy cattle on pasture need plentiful supplies of good, fresh water while on pasture. Water is very valuable in the milk producing process carried on in the cow's body.

This is only natural, say University of Missouri extension dairymen, since milk is 87 per cent water.

Frozen Poultry Pies Prove to Be Popular

In the poultry market, extension poultry marketing specialists say that frozen poultry pot pies are proving very popular. In 1955, poultry pot pies accounted for about 15 per cent of the total output of the frozen prepared food industry. Ninety per cent of these pies went to the retail trade.

This sorting scene at the Howard County Cooperative Feeder Cattle Sale, one of a series held each fall throughout Missouri, is typical of the pre-sale activity at the farmer-owned and farmer-operated events. Feeder cattle consigned to such sales are sorted into uniform lots as to breed, sex, type, quality, and condition under the supervision of the Missouri Agricultural Extension Service and are then sold at auction by the pound. At 48 feeder cattle sales from Sept. 16 to Oct. 19, Missouri cattle producers are offering buyers 5,100 head of cattle sorted into uniform lots. These sales are farmer controlled and farmer operated. The cattle come direct from the farms to the sale pens. Nearby sales include: Vienna, Sept. 19; Versailles, Sept. 23; Lebanon, Sept. 25; Columbia, Oct. 8; Fayette, Oct. 10; Warsaw, Oct. 16; Appleton City, Oct. 17; and Clinton, Oct. 19. A complete sale list is available at the extension office.

Lambs Show Good Gain on Rye in Test

Lambs made a good gain on rye pasture in a recent test at the University of Missouri. A. J. Dyer, professor of animal husbandry, says the rye pasture yielded more than 210 pounds of lamb gain per acre.

Turkey Prices Are Expected To Show Rise

The general opinion of authorities is that turkey prices hit bottom in August and will show some improvement prior to the holiday season, according to Leonard Voss, University of Missouri agricultural economist.

Consumption levels are high and are estimated to be a third higher to date this year. Low prices, nutritive value, and availability will probably keep consumption at a high level.

The summer hatch wasn't as high as was expected and there is some indication that more of the heavy breeds will be sold at fryer and rooster sizes than was the case last year. This will make total production about 5 per cent above last year, lower than previously estimated.

Live turkey prices are expected to be two to four cents below last year's average Missouri farm prices of 25 to 26 cents per pound, Voss says.

Large Supply Of Feed Grain Is Expected

During the coming year, feed grain will be in large supply, both in total and in pounds per animal unit. Larger crops of oats, barley, and grain sorghums were in prospect Aug. 1. However, a smaller corn harvest is on deck.

It has not been announced whether corn not grown in compliance with acreage controls will be supported this year. This could have some effect on corn prices. Agricultural economists at the University of Missouri say it now appears that corn prices will be around

Crop Drier Popularity On Increase

Mechanical crop drying can pay a farmer both in cash and efficiency, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Main advantages of crop drying are that it's profitable in wet or dry seasons, it allows early harvests, it reduces corn borer losses, and it prevents troublesome volunteer seeding among rotation crops.

Three types of mechanical driers are commonly used. One heats the air and forces it through the grain, a second only forces air through the grain, and a third forces air that has been heated only slightly.

A crop drier is particularly valuable to the farmer after a wet, prolonged growing season. However, it pays its way in dry seasons because it allows early harvesting, says the USDA.

The demand for mechanical crop drying is increasing as farming becomes more mechanized, the farm labor supply shrinks, and farming itself changes into a more nearly controlled process.

Wool Brings Highest Price of Any Product Sold in Missouri

Don't overlook the profit-making possibilities of sheep if you are equipped to handle them. A. J. Dyer, professor of animal husbandry at the University of Missouri, says prices paid for lambs have compared very favorably with those paid for other livestock. And wool continues to bring the highest price per pound of any produce sold by Missouri farmers.

Instead of small units of 5 to 30 breeding ewes, Dyer says much larger units should be considered in most cases. Thirty ewes are the equivalent of only five mature cows.

Stan Returns, Cards Rally, Beat Redlegs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Things couldn't have gone better for the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday.

They rallied in the ninth for a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati and Stan Musial returned to the lineup after being out of action since Aug. 22.

The come-from-behind victory put them 5½ games behind Milwaukee Braves, who are show signs of a September sag like the one that cost the Braves the pennant last year.

Al Dark and Wally Moon were the Cardinal heroes in the ninth inning. Dark banged a single to cap a two-run rally that won the ball game. Moon's single brought in the tying run.

Starter Joe Nuxhall of the Redlegs sailed along on a 3-0 cushion until the bottom of the eighth.

Hal Smith opened the eighth with a single and later Musial, batting for starter Vinegar Bend Mizell, punched a single.

Then Nuxhall threw Don Blasingame's ground ball into center field trying for a double play. Two unearned runs tallied.

Larry Jackson pitched the ninth and came away with his 14th victory against 8 losses. He ended the game by fanning Frank Robinson on a 3-2 pitch with the bases loaded. Robinson had hit a home run, a triple and a single and scored all his team's runs.

The Cards were idle today and play Philadelphia tomorrow night at Busch Stadium.

At Chicago, the A's helped the first-place New York Yankees out by punishing the White Sox, 3-2, in a 13-inning ball game.

Woody Held's sacrifice fly in the fourth overtime inning was the game-winning blow off reliever Dixie Howell. Jack Urban pitched all the way for the winners and hurled a tight five-hitter, wriggling free from several jams.

The only home run was hit by Lou Skizas of the A's. Howell nearly tied it in the 13th when he hit a ball that just missed being a home run. It was a triple but he was left stranded.

Bell and Perez Will Meet Again in Bout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Featherweight Bobby Bell and lightweight Lulu Perez, who fought to a draw Aug. 19, clash again tonight at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. It figures to be another close 10-rounder.

Bell, of Youngstown, Ohio, spotted his 24-year-old rival seven pounds — 135½ to 128½ — in their first fight but finished strong to earn the draw. The 28-year-old Bell has a spotty 38-29-6 record.

Says Aim of US Policy To Relieve Pressure; Nasser Accuses US

CAIRO (AP)—President Nasser said today. "The real aim of United States policy in regard to Syria is to relieve pressure on Israel."

In an interview with editor Mohammed Hassan Heikal of the newspaper Al Ahran, Nasser accused the United States of fabricating a Communist threat in the Middle East to break up Arab unity.

"The real aim of United States policy in regard to Syria is to relieve the pressure on Israel and turn the spotlight away to other areas," Nasser said. "In other words, Israel lies at the root of the current American campaign against Syria."

Los Angeles Group Offers To Buy 'Bums'

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball's big question as to the future home of the Brooklyn Dodgers became even more involved today with a group of Los Angeles businessmen offering to purchase the National League club and move it to the West Coast city.

Elliott Evans of Los Angeles said he and associates were willing to top by half a million dollars the five-million-dollar offer made for the club a few days ago by New Yorker Louis E. Wolfson.

Evans made public his offer a few hours after John Cashmore, president of the borough of Brooklyn, wired President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers to "please hold everything" and to tell Los Angeles to "go find itself another team."

Cashmore advised O'Malley in a telegram sent to Vero Beach, Fla., that legal obstacles barring a proposed stadium in the Flatbush section of downtown Brooklyn might possibly be removed. O'Malley flew to Vero Beach yesterday after a six-day vacation in Wyoming.

The Brooklyn city official told O'Malley the decision regarding a new stadium on the site desired by the Dodger head is due shortly. O'Malley repeatedly has requested city officials to condemn land on the Flatbush and Atlantic Avenue site for the building of a ball park. He has said he is willing to invest more than six million dollars to build the stadium.

Wolfson made his five-million-dollar offer with hopes of keeping the Dodgers in the New York area.

But Evans said, "We want them in Los Angeles even without O'Malley."

Evans, who said he heads a company interested in purchasing businesses, declined to say how far negotiations with the club have advanced or whom, if anybody, he has seen.

"But we have made the offer," he said. "And I hope to have an announcement by Tuesday or Wednesday."

Evans said he and his associates want the Dodgers in Los Angeles because they consider purchase of the club a good business investment and they believe the club belongs in the West Coast city.

Pitching Mound Again Is 'Heartbreak Hill' for Braves

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

The pitching mound, where Milwaukee lost the National League pennant during the closing weeks last year, once again has become "heartbreak hill" for Braves' Manager Fred Haney.

Their first-place margin over St. Louis reduced to 5½ games—lowest since Aug. 11 — by yesterday's 5-3 loss to Chicago, the Braves face the last three weeks with only one reliable pitcher, 36-year-old Warren Spahn. The other members of the once formidable Big Four — Lew Burdette, Bob Buhl and Gene Conley — are either ailing or failing.

The New York Yankees, also plagued by an acute pitching shortage, got good relief pitching by Bobby Shantz and defeated Washington 5-2 to increase their first-place lead to 5½ games over Chicago in the American League. The White Sox, who now trail by four games in the important last column, dropped a 13-inning 3-2 decision to Kansas City.

The Cardinals overcame a 3-0 deficit with two runs each in the eighth and ninth innings to defeat Cincinnati 4-3.

The New York Giants defeated third-place Brooklyn 3-2. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh split, the Phillies winning 7-4 and the Pirates 6-2.

Detroit triumphed over Cleveland 3-1 and Boston, behind the three-hit pitching of Mike Fornieles, shut out Baltimore 2-0.

Milwaukee has played 25 games since Aug. 13, the day Burdette pitched what was then the seventh consecutive complete game by a Brave pitcher. Only seven times since then has a Milwaukee pitcher gone the route. Spahn was that pitcher on five occasions.

Last September the same Big Four completed only 7 of 26 starts.

It was Conley who failed yesterday although relief pitcher Ernie Johnson took the defeat. Big Gene, who hasn't won since Aug. 11, failed to last the fourth inning when the Cubs increased their lead to 3-0. The Braves fought back to tie the score at 3-3 in the ninth but four walks plus pinch hitter Bob Will's single produced two Chicago runs in the 10th and paved the way for Milwaukee's fourth loss in its last five games.

Dale Long paced the Cubs' 10-hit attack with a double, two singles, a walk and two runs batted in. Dick Drott who replaced starter Moe Drabowsky in the ninth, won his 13th game against 11 defeats.

Braves Lose Fourth Game In 5 Starts

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves lost their fourth game in five starts yesterday and saw their National League lead trimmed to 5½ games, but shouted down suggestions that they were embarked on another September fade.

The Milwaukee confidence that a World Series appearance will come to pass was supported by spokesmen for the last-place Chicago Cubs, who beat the Braves 5-3 in 10 innings to take their second triumph in the three-game series.

Last year the Braves were edged out by one game in the final two days of the season by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Leading the chorus of Milwaukee optimism was veteran left-handed hurler Warren Spahn, who stopped the Cubs on five hits Saturday night.

"We're not feeling any pressure yet," he said. "It's just that a recession has set in. You've got to expect it after all those runs we've been scoring and the way we've been winning."

"And the other clubs are under no pressure, because they have nothing to lose. It's different with us. We have everything to lose. I just hope we don't get down to the point where we're only 3½ or 2½ games ahead. Then we're bound to feel it."

One was catcher Del Crandall's error on a throw from Hank Aaron that let in the first Cub run in the 10th. The big backstop said later, "No excuses, I just missed it."

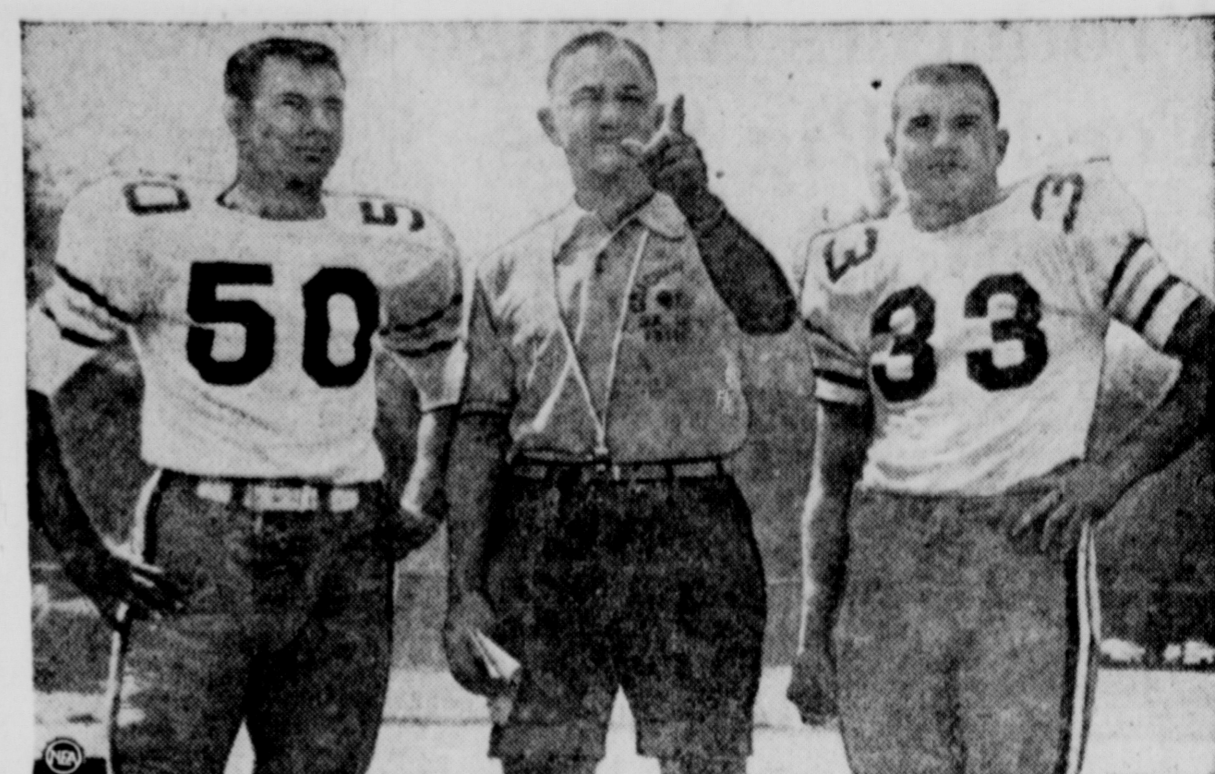

Another was a streak of wildness by relief hurler Ernie Johnson in the same inning as he gave up four walks, one of them intentional, to force in the final run.

But Spahn countered with the relief work of Bob Buhl, who gave up only one hit in three innings as he returned to action after being out since July 6 with arm trouble.

Cub Manager Bob Scheffing didn't forecast any serious difficulties for the Braves as he said, getting in a plug for his team. "Remember Milwaukee has been looking at the best pitching in the league right now. And your pitchers have been having troubles. But I didn't see any signs of pressure or tightening up."

Chuck Tanner, who started the season with the Braves, said, "Milwaukee has got the best club in the league by far. They can't miss this time."

Althea Gibson Wins National Championship

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Three short years ago, Althea Gibson was so discouraged that she was ready to give up tennis and join the Women's Army Corps.

Today the angular Harlem girl rules an undisputed queen of the courts, the first Negro ever to win a national championship.

"I was ready to chuck it all in those days," Miss Gibson said. "I was mixed up and seemed to be getting nowhere in the game. Now, of course I'm glad I didn't join the WACs."

She should be. Yesterday, on the polished center court of the West Side Tennis Club, she gave a superb exhibition of craftsmanship to defeat Louise Brough 6-3, 6-2 in the final. The victory culminated a dream of seven years for Miss Gibson.

While Althea's triumph was expected, the result of the men's division was a distinct surprise. Unseeded Mal Anderson whipped his Australian teammate Ashley Cooper 10-8, 7-5, 6-4 in the second all-Australian final in two years. Cooper, the champion of Australia, was seeded No. 1, but he never was in the match against the skinny Anderson. It was the next day and Miss Brough won it.

Richards to Drop Sports for TV Show

Richards, 31, will appear as host on a half-hour weekly sports show to be carried by the ABC network. The first show is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 3.

The two-time Olympic pole vault champion, an ordained minister in the Church of the Brethren, said he will continue his preaching and lecture tours.

Rain Spreads Over Wide Areas of Nation As Storm Moves North

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain spread over wide areas of the Southeast today as remnants of the tropical storm Debbie moved slowly northeastward after spreading into Georgia during the night.

The precipitation extended as far west as the Mississippi River in southeastern Missouri and as far north as Kentucky and Virginia. Rainfall amounts were heavy near the center of the advancing low pressure in northeast Georgia and parts of South Carolina.

Heaviest wind gusts reported were 60 m.p.h. yesterday at Jacksonville, Fla. Two to four inches of rain fell across most of northern Florida into Georgia.

The rain was expected to end in parts of Georgia and South Carolina but probably will continue over the mid-Atlantic Coast states and spread northward to southern New England. Thunder showers were indicated in Florida.

Students Say Inmate Tells Of CIA Work

LONDON (AP)—A U.S. civilian imprisoned in Communist China on spy charges has been quoted by visiting Americans as saying he worked for the Central Intelligence Agency.

The British news agency Reuters reported in a Peiping dispatch yesterday that five U.S. students said the statement was made to them in a Peiping prison visit with Richard Fecteau, 30, of Lynn, Mass.

A spokesman for the CIA in Washington refused to comment. The prisoner's mother Mrs. Philip D. Fecteau has denied that he worked for the CIA.

Fecteau and John Downey, 27, of New Britain, Conn., both civilian employees of the Army, disappeared on a flight from Korea to Japan in 1952. The Communists repeatedly have accused them of working for the CIA.

Fecteau was sentenced to 20 years and Downey to life imprisonment. The Communists asserted they were shot down over Manchuria while dropping supplies to agents there. The United States has denied this.

Reuters said separate groups from the 41 young Americans on an unauthorized tour of Red China visited for 30 minutes each with Fecteau and Downey yesterday. The 10 visitors—five to each prisoner—later drew up a joint statement about the interviews.

The statement was released after a 17-hour delay, officially attributed to "difficulties in mimeographing."

The visitors were required to agree before visiting the prison that they would not ask Fecteau and Downey any questions about their trial or charges against them. They were forbidden to take notes.

The touring Americans may be allowed to visit other U.S. prisoners in Shanghai, Chinese authorities indicated.

Two Catholic priests—the Revs. John P. Wagner of Pittsburgh and Joseph P. McCormack of Ossining, N. Y.—and businessman Hugh F. Redmond of Yonkers, N. Y., are believed under house arrest in Shanghai.

Three Injured In 1-Car Wreck On Highway 50

Three young men were injured, not seriously, in a one-car accident on Highway 50 just west of the west junction of state highway 135 and Highway 50 about 11:25 p.m. Saturday.

The car, a 1950 Mercury sedan, was driven east on Highway 50 by Norman Eugene Montgomery, 20, of 1213 East Fourth. It left the highway, shot across to the left off the road, through a fence facing the highway, through a second fence, rolled across a driveway and landed across a hedge fence, on the farm of Athael I. Griffith.

The car was demolished.

Montgomery suffered a cut on the right arm and slight concussion.

Robert L. Priesendorf, 21, of 1524 East Sixth, received minor cuts and scrapes on his back.

Robert L. Hoopengartner, 20, of Kansas City, received a severe cut of the left ear and a cut of the scalp.

Kenneth E. Taber, 21, of 516 West Fifth, escaped injury.

The injured were brought to Sedalia in the Ewing ambulance and taken to Bothwell Hospital.

If you're a businessman...

Can prospects find you in the telephone book?

What you don't know won't hurt you? What about those calls you miss because a business prospect can't remember the name of your firm? Happens all the time... and missed calls mean lost business. That's why it pays to have your business number listed right next to your home number in the telephone directory.

THE COST IS LOW

only 25¢ a month for residence

only 50¢ a month for business

Other family members can enjoy low-cost extra listings, too. Busy teen-agers—or relatives living in your home—might like to have their "name in the book." Call the telephone business office and arrange for your extra listings now.

BEFORE BULLDOZERS ARRIVED, Walden looked just about as it must have when Thoreau lived along its shores.

NEW BEACH CONSTRUCTION on Walden shores recalled Thoreau's words about "making earth bald before her time."

'Famed Cultural Shrine'

Bulldozers Shatter Peace At Thoreau's Lovely Walden

By BILL MAHONEY
CONCORD, Mass. — (NEA) — A tired, disordered landscape greeted the eyes of the ambassador from India as he arrived at a clear, cold lake nestled near here.
G. L. Mehta had come to tell a gathering of the influence a famous Concord citizen had had on India. He also came to pay hom- age to a "famed cultural shrine" — a Walden Pond as near to na- ture as when that famous citizen lived there.
But things had changed since the days of author-naturalist Henry David Thoreau. Bulldozers had recently bitten into a great area to form a new beach. Beer cans, papers, all sorts of debris littered that area. And citizens here and across the nation were in revolt.

Forest Fires Rage in Dry California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — For- estry officials today foresaw no letup in the "very critical" weather situation that sparked about 75 forest and brush fires throughout tinder-dry California over the weekend.
With some still raging unchecked, the fires:
1. Forced hundreds of vacation- ers to flee summer homes in the timbered Greenhorn Mountain area of Sequoia National Forest.
2. Caused a two-hour closure last night of transcontinental U.S. 50 in mountainous El Dorado County when flames approached the roadway near the gold mining town of Placerville. One fire- fighter was seriously burned.
3. Threatened a Nike guided missile base on Mt. Gleason 20 airline miles north of Los Angeles.
More than 2,000 fire fighters were thrown into the fighting against the various blazes—large and small—which flared through- out the state.
Brought under control late last night was the biggest single fire—one that blackened 11,000 acres of uninhabited timber and brush land in the northern Sierra, 15 miles northeast of Marysville in Yuba County.
Elsewhere, new fires were fan- ning out uncontrolled. A new blaze in the Angeles National Forest last night destroyed about 400 acres of valuable watershed in San Gabriel Canyon.
Wind shifted the stubborn fire that menaced the Mt. Gleason Nike base in the Angeles National Forest. The untamed fire spread out over about 5,000 acres in less than three hours.

Pilot Sees Aftermath Of Volcanic Explosion

SINGAPORE (AP)—A veteran pilot said today he saw the after- math of a terrific volcanic explo- sion on an Indonesian island yesterday as he was flying from Darwin, Australia, to Jakarta.
Capt. C. S. Sanderson said he spotted a huge column of white smoke mushroom over tiny Gun- ungapi Island from a height of 18,500 feet.
"The explosion took place prob- ably 20 minutes before we passed over the island," he said. "The height of the cloud formation was about 3,000 feet."

Floods Drown 41

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP)— Floods have drowned 41 persons in Kashmir, an official report said today. About 600 villages have been inundated.

Hal Boyle's Column

College Costs Five Times Higher Than 50 Years Ago

By HL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That one way to take off excess weight is to play the piano . . . But you have to bang the keyboard 44 hours to lose a single pound of fat.

That the "jewels" in most watches are synthetic or semi-precious gems and are worth about 20 to 25 cents each.

That a majority of America's 50 million families spend a third of their income on food, liquor and tobacco.

That Yellowstone National Park contains more geysers than the rest of the world.

That it was Fred Allen who said, "some people spend six days a week sowing wild oats, then go to church to pray for a crop failure."

That a college education today costs up to five times what it did only 50 years ago.

That Detroit is the only major city in the United States from which one must travel south to get to Canada.

That science fiction writers predict man will travel by "teleportation" within the next two centuries . . . They will be broadcast from place to place by television-type waves.

That Thurman D. Rice, a nutrition expert, says if a man had to subsist on spinach alone he'd need to eat 30 pounds a day to keep going.

That a midtown office has this sign posted: "The easiest way to make ends meet is to get off your own."

That if the water in the Great Lakes was spread evenly over the nation, it would cover the 48 states to a depth of 10 feet.

That Bloomers are named after Mrs. Amelia Jenks Bloomer . . . Yet she neither created them nor was the first to wear them.

That all distances in Cuba are measured from a 24-karat diamond set in the floor under the dome of the capitol in Havana.

That Ireland isn't the only land that doesn't have snakes . . . neither do New Zealand or the Azores.

That America has 496 of the world's television stations and 42 million of its 56 million TV sets.

That tapophobia, or the fear of being buried alive, afflicted many historical personalities, including Disraeli, Tennyson, Samuel Johnson and Hans Christian Anderson . . . Anderson carried a note on his person stating that he was subject to trances and requesting that he not be buried for at least a week after his presumed death.

That it's against the law to sleep in your bathtub in New York City.

That it was Benjamin Franklin who observed, "Where there is marriage without love, there will be love without marriage."

That six states still bar women from jury duty.
